

Dear Friends,

December 2010

Christmas greetings to you! That wonderful season of the year that can get hectic and a bit stressful but that also reminds us of the greatest Christmas gift of all.

Revision Project. I just finished my part in the third of three revised courses I worked on over the past year or so—courses on how to study the Bible, Christian family, and Christian marriage. All three will be ready for field use very soon. Thank you for your prayers for these courses. Please pray as we begin the final editing on the next set of courses.

Field Staff Development Conference (November 8-12). At this workshop conference we heard challenging messages from our president from the book of Daniel, had a fruitful time discussing, among other things, future fields for our ministry and how we can enhance our ministry, and enjoyed a good time of fellowship.

2011 All-Staff Conference (April 13-19). My work as director of this conference is starting to pick up. The conference will be held in Kuşadasi, Turkey, near Ephesus. I will share more details as the time approaches. Please pray for me and all who are planning the conference.

Home Ministry. My Sunday school class is studying Isaiah and the men's breakfast the Gospel of John. Please pray for me as I prepare and for all of us that we will learn and grow in Him.

As you give gifts this Christmas, remember that the greatest Gift of all became the greatest Giver of all. If I may paraphrase, Jesus said, "I came to give you life—a full life now and eternal life forever." What other gift could a person want? So many people are empty, not knowing why they are here or where they are going. Jesus came to change all that—from emptiness to fullness, from questions to certainty—for all who believe in Him. What a gift! What a Giver!

Is it any wonder that because of His birth we sing of joy, peace, and hope!

I thank the Lord for your friendship, prayers, and wonderful support. I so appreciate your sharing in this ministry with me. Together we are training men and women in various parts of the world who are able, in turn, to train others. Bless you for your partnership in this vital ministry.

I hope your Christmas season will be filled with great times of family gatherings and festive fellowship and your new year with contentment, fulfillment, and assurance.

Merry Christmas!!
